A full-page sheet of white graph paper. The grid consists of light gray dashed lines forming small squares. A solid horizontal line runs across the middle of the page, and a solid vertical line runs down the left side, creating a header area at the top and a margin on the left. The rest of the page is covered by the dashed grid.
